Section 1

1.1 To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

This financial product (No Such Friends of Propel) promotes E&S characteristics through supporting the UN Sustainable Development Goals but does not have as its objective sustainable investment. The financial product seeks to invest in Propel, with the potential for growth and a positive impact on Sustainable Development Goals.

1.2 How did the sustainability indicators perform?

The KPIs used to measure the sustainability indicators for Propel were:

1. Number of members in ecosystem with access to education resources
2. Number of countries where the communities are from

According to Propel's end-of-year performance data, there were 428,119 members in the ecosystem with access to education resources, and there are 18 countries where communities are from.

1.3 ...and compared to previous periods?

As this is the first year we are actively tracking this metric, it is hard to compare year-over-year growth. Propel empowers members on its platform to access educational resources in regions where quality education is less accessible. Its continuous focus on expanding the ecosystem and extending its reach is creating significant positive impacts.

1.4 What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

Not applicable.

1.5 How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Not applicable.

1.5.1 How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

Not applicable.

[Include a statement for the financial products referred to in Article 6, first paragraph, of Regulation (EU) 2020/852]

The EU Taxonomy sets out a "do not significant harm" principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The "do no significant harm" principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

1.5.2 Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

Not applicable.

Section 2

2.1 How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

This financial product considered principal adverse impacts (PAIs) on sustainability factors as part of a thorough due diligence process. Propel received a "Pass" score across all assessed indicators, reflecting compliance with UN Global Compact principles and OECD Guidelines.

Key highlights include Propel's adherence to human rights principles, ensuring freedom of association, eliminating forced and child labour, and maintaining anti-discrimination practices. Environmentally, Propel supports local service networks to reduce emissions and promotes environmentally friendly technologies. Additionally, Propel avoids exposure to controversial weapons, fossil fuel activities, and biodiversity-sensitive areas. Anti-corruption measures were upheld through ethical training embedded in the onboarding process. These considerations align with Propel's commitment to sustainable and responsible business practices.
